PREFACE.

THE issue of the present volume of Collections has been delayed from various unforeseen and untoward circumstances; and the anticipated article on the Religious House of Fail is unavoidably postponed to a future volume.

The Association is indebted to the following Members for their contributions, viz.—Dr. MUNRO for his notice of the Bronze Celts and Ring found near Culzean; and also a further contribution to his former articles on the Ayrshire Crannogs; Mr. ROBERT BRUCE ARMSTRONG for the Military Report on Carrick, Kyle, and Cunningham; Mr. SHEDDEN-DOBIE for another contribution to the Churches of Cuninghame; Dr. MACDONALD for the first of his series of illustrated notices of the Ancient Bronze Implements of Ayrshire; and to the Rev. W. FORBES LOW for a notice of Three Ancient Plates belonging to the Parish Church of Kilmarnock.

An especial acknowledgment is due to the MARQUESS of AILSA for the illustrations to Dr. Munro's articles; and to Sir HERBERT EUSTACE MAXWELL of Monreith, who, besides a translation and notice of the Logan Charter, has presented another contribution to the Heraldry of Wigtonshire in the emblazonment of the Arms of Cuninghame Borthwick, Baron Borthwick.

The volume closes with the Minute-Book of the Baron-Court of Corshill, which exemplifies not only the style of procedure in our minor law courts, but also some of the manners and customs of two centuries ago.

In conclusion, it is satisfactory to announce that the volume on the Abbey of Crossraguel will shortly be issued; and another volume, devoted to the Royal Burgh of Irvine, is also in progress.
